WITH CITY SCHOOLS OUT OF DEBT, CROSIER URGES SALARY INCREASE

Compares Salaries Here With Those of Other Cities and Says Higher Cost of Living Makes an Increase Desirable; Makes Suggestions For Improvement in City Schools.

The prospect of the present schol- your consideration the following schedastic year closing with the schools completely out of debt, served to enliven the meeting of the school board Monday night at the Bailey school. With the clearing of the $92,000 Indebtedness under which the present board has labored for some time, smiles are now taking the place of frowns, and each succeeding session is growing livelier. In addition to wiping out the indebtedness, which has existed for three years, the present school board has to its credit the new Alta Vista school and a high school site. With the assurance of the schools being free of debt at the close of the session, N. R. Crozier, superintendent of the city schools, in an exhaustive report submitted to the board, suggested the consideration of improvements of the school system, which he stated, had been delayed for some time on account of financial reasons. That the efficiency of the work in spite of the school debt was kept up to the collection of the maximum for the different groups.

the school debt was kept up to the standard, Mr. Crozier attributed to the faithful services of the teachers of the public schools.

Prominent among his suggestions for the betterment of the school system, Mr. Crozier suggests an increase of teachers' salaries. He stated that these should be adequate and economy in this particular was poor policy. Vacation and recreation to repair physical and nervous waste should also be taken into consideration in fixing the salaries, he said. In his plea for targer salaries Mr. Crozier in his report brings in high cost of living, and says:

In high cost of living, and says:

Living Cost a New Factor.

"At the recent meeting of the department of superintendence of the N. R. A. an exhaustive report was presented by the 'committee on the cost of living and the teachers' salaries' it was pointed out in this report that the United States bureau of labor found that in 1911 wholesale prices were 44.1 percent higher than in 1897. A teacher whose salary had remained fixed at $1000 since 1897 would have had no greater purchasing power in 1911 than $692.96 possessed in the earlier year. In the case of 15 staple articles of food the bureau of labor finds that from 1896 to 1911 retail prices increased 50.2 percent. In June, 1912, retail food prices were $1.7 percent higher than the average for 1896.

cent higher than the average for 1896.

Applied to El Paso Schools.

"Let us apply these figures to the El Paso schools, and to save time, take only the salaries of the elementary teachers. The average salary per annum for the 119 grade teachers in the public schools during the present session is $858.01. Measured by retail prices of 1912, this salary has no greater purchasing power than $405.70 had in 1896. Have the salaries in the El Paso schools increased since 1896? They have not. The same maximum obtains today for grade teaching as obtained in 1896, viz: $90 per month. The teacher who received the maximum salary of $90 per month. or $810 per annum, in 1896, had a purchasing power greater by $709.98 than the teacher who receives $810 per annum during the session of 1912-13, measured by retail prices of 1912.

Compared With Other Cities. "Let us go a step farther, and compare El Paso salaries with the salaries paid by five representative cities in different sections of the country. Cincinnati, Hamilton, Ind., Denver, Atlanta and New Haven, Conn. The committee sent out questionaires to the teachers of these cities which were answered in the greatest detail. sent out questionaires to the teachers of these cities which were answered in the greatest detail. The average salary paid to women grade teachers in the different cities follows:

"Cincinnati, $887.49. Hamilton, $628-11: Denver, $839.60. Atlanta, $571.60. Mew Haven, $630.60. El Paso, $656.61. "The commercial rate of board in the same cities follows: Hamilton, $5.15. Per week. Denver, $7.15. Atlanta, $4.96. New Haven, $5.42: El Paso, $8.50. "If this schedule is adopted, it will undoubtedly result in more efficient scheaper living at that place offset, any advantage El Paso has over atlanta. Besides one needs only a short visit to Atlanta to realize what a serious problem the low salaries present for the efficiency of the schools."

"If good teachers we now have are to be retained and others attracted here in the future, a new schedule of salaries should go into effect the next session. After considerable investigation of what is being done in other cities, and bearing in mind also that once free from debt it behoves the but the language of the better classes."

'Physical training, save for some haphaxard calisthenics, has been a totally neglected feature of public school work. An expert physical director should be employed to look after this work. Every school should have a gymnasium, but since such is not the case, classes can be taken to the open air, which in some respects is better. A woman assistant should be employed to take charge of the older girls, for it is well to segregate the sexes in the upper grades for this work.

'A special teacher of writing should be employed to give instruction in penmanship. The teachers have been taking the free normal course offered by the Palmer company, but few will be able to secure the diploma in penmanship. The great majority of the teachers have done exceedingly well, and results are beginning to show. But it will be a long time before all the teachers will have diplomas.

"There is a giorious opportunity to demonstrate in El Paso the value of open air teaching. Recently I visited a school where at comparatively small expense an uncovered porth had been constructed outside of each class room. The rooms had been equipped with the new style arm chair not fastened to constructed outside or each class room. The rooms had been equipped with the new style arm chair not fastened to the floor. Each pupil could take his chair with him to the porch for recitations, there being an attachment for holding all material and books. This arrangement did not interfere with the use of the class room as such, for there is certain work that can better be done indoors than out, and yet a portion of each day's work was done in the open air. In very inciement weather, the classroom might be used entirely, thus doing away with the necessity for heavy bianket robes and hoods and expensive foot stoves, in which so many cities have had to invest. The Highland Park school is a one story building so that the porches could be constructed without covers, thus in an wise interfering with the proper lighting of the rooms. The rooms could easily have a door cut leading to the porches. The school is rather secluded so there would be no outside attractions to distract the attention of pupils. Moreover, when one of the western sandstorms wish this community for a day or for a few hours, the pupils could be assembled in their usual class rooms at a moment's notice, and the work could go on without interruption. The expense would not be great, and the success of open sir teaching has been so thoroughly established that the experiment is well worth trying. "The above features could easily be added to our public school work at a cost not to exceed $600 or $700 per month, and would be worth a great deal more than that to the community."

Messics Reduces Enrolment.

In his report on the enrolment for the sixth and seventh scholastic months, Mr. Crosier blammed the measles for there not being a better showing of the pupils belonging to the different school. The total enrolment shown was $500, as compared to $487 of hast year. The total number belonging was given at $800 of the school beard which occur on May 23.
